PROJECT

Music-Web (HTML, CSS, JS)

This is a simple music website. I used AJAX in it. Here user can enjoy his favorite musics. some functionalities are still remained to add up but you can listen musics here and also after click on the particular music there will be more musics related to current music and some trending musics.

Book-Stall (React JS)

Here we have many books by different category on home page. you can also use search functionality to get books. i used google books api to get data of different books. after click on the particular book it will show you the detailed data about that book.
